> INTERESTED IN TRADES?

Lethbridge College is committed to providing high school students with experiences that will help them find a career path they are excited about, wherever that road may lead. For those curious about the trades, there are a wide variety of opportunities and we are here to help students learn about their options, so they can make an informed decision they feel confident about.

Lethbridge College is introducing a series of new courses to give high school students experience with several different trades, introduce them to industry representatives and provide a sneak-peek at training with the inside scoop from those working in the field. Designed for grades 10, 11 and 12, you'll be able to earn credit at both your high school and the college.

Join us for the Sept. 28 info session to learn more about Lethbridge College's Trades Dual Credit Pathway and find out how students can get started building a future career, today!
